MAINTENANCE CORNER

Helping Your Apartment Stay Cool

August is often the hottest month of the year, which means your air-conditioning is working hard to keep everyone comfortable. During periods of extreme heat, it's normal for your apartment to take a little longer to reach the thermostat setting, especially during the hottest part of the afternoon.

To help your home stay comfortable:

- Keep blinds and curtains closed during peak sunlight hours.
- Keep windows and patio doors closed while the A/C is running.
- Avoid setting your thermostat drastically lower than your desired temperature—it won't cool your apartment faster and may cause your system to run continuously.

Our maintenance team works hard to keep your HVAC systems performing their best all summer long. If you notice your air conditioner isn't cooling properly or you're experiencing another maintenance concern, please submit a work order through the resident portal so we can assist you promptly.

Back-to-School Community Reminder

As school resumes and routines become busier, there will be more pedestrian activity in the community. Please help us keep everyone safe by driving slowly, watching carefully and staying alert in the parking lots and throughout the community.
